£2,000 PLAN TO SALVAGE BRITISH SHIP

A tender for more than £2,000 for the salvaging of the 5,155-ton British freighter Forresbank, which caught fire and stranded on Pondolland Coast on November 10, was acceped by Lloyds at Durban today.

The syndicate to whom the salvage rights were granted was formed in Johannesburg shortly after the vessel went aground. Reports indicate that it was on the point of breaking up.

A long hole in her side is getting bigger and water is pouring in at every high tide.
